THE ANAMITE MISSION.

THE Anamese Envoys, to whose arrival we alluded a day or two since, will not we are afraid, return to their native country with a very exalted idea British hospitality. That, officially speak-Marseilles or to Singapore, may be ing, they have met with a proper reception, we have no reason to doubt, but there are occasions when a slight departure from the mere limits of official routine i ustifiable and advantageous. Here we have the messengers of a King, politically insignificant, it may be, as regards our policy in China, but exercising sways fer a region which includes no inconsiderable sea coast and hence for maritime reasons alone a potentate whose friendship worth cultivating. Still more so, in view of French movements in Cambodia, is: well to impress the natives of this little studied country with favourable ideas of our friendly feeling and of our apprecia as possible, but no guarantee can be | tion of the grateful sentiments which have prompted the despatch of the En voys to wait upon Sir R. MacDonnell; and to this end the exercise of a little libera lity would not be misplaced. The mission brings, if we are rightly informed certain presents, of no great intrinsic value but acceptable from the sentiment they represent, to His Excellency, and it would seem but reasonable that during their stay the Envoys should receive some little takens of consideration apart. from any gifts they may receive for conveyance to their Sovereign. If only a few cases of Champagne and similar urticles of creature comfort were presented to them, enough would thereby done to assimilate their reception to that invariably accorded to similar missions between oriental nations. But so far as we have yet been able to learn, the envoys have been allowed to remain on board their ships, and to obtain at their own cost anything of use or luxury of which they stood in need. Surely the Colonial Government might afford a few hundred dollars in hospitality to the representatives of even the King

> But there is an importance attaching to this mission quite apart from the feelings of respect or the contrary which we may entertain for its author. It is a public acknowledgement before the world that a humanity, which was denied at Macao to sufferers by the illegal acts of persons claiming Portuguese protection, was happily exhibited by a British Co-There is perhaps a scarcely blameable feeling on the part of the Colonial Government that it would be bad taste to "make too much" of the compliment paid it for an act of simple duty and humanity. HONGKONG SUGAR.

WE have received a specimen of the first (experimental) lot of sugar turned out at the new works at East Point, and congratulate the managers upon the success which has rewarded their first efforts. In colour it is very slightly brown, owing, as we are informed, to the arrangements for laying on water to the works being as yet incomplete. So soon as a plentiful supply of this necessary is obtainable, the beautiful and minute chrystals, which constitute the product of the new-mills will assume that white color so familiar to us at home. Much has been said about the danger to which the spirited Chinese proprietors of the mills will be exposed by a combination amongst the other native merchants who deal in this article—a combination similar to that which has so long interfered with the development of the bean cake trade. We do not however fear the result if they are only true to their own interests, and the fact that the estab. lishment is to be worked by well qualified foreigners will remove one great temptation to meddle with it on the part of envious rivals. If it be merely as an additional evidence of progress, we are sincerely glad to find that the establishment will very shortly be in perfect working

LOCAL.

WE understand that the plaintiffs in the case of Wahee and others v. Jumes Henderson, master of the Red Riding Hood, are not disposed to allow the case to stand as now decided by the Judge of the Small Cause Court, and that they purpose appeal ing against the judgment given the other day by Judge Ball. They can, we believe appeal to the Chief Justice direct, even in ase of refusal by the 'ummary Judge,

MR C. C. SMITH left Hongkong for Eng. land on leave of absence by the mail steamer this morning; and it is no matter for surprise that his departure was the occasion of some marked demonstrations on the part of the Chinese merchants. During the last two or three years, as student interpreter, Registrar General, protector of Chinese, and finally as acting Colo ial Secretary as well, Mr Smith has learned much of Chinese habits of thought and has been able to learn more of the Chinese character than many of our older duniu strators. In addition, therefore, to the Tokongish street-lining presented this morning on the Regis rar General's departure, a large number of the Chinese merchants escorted Mr Smith to the P. & O. Wharf, and wished him long life and all the virtues under the sun. These good wishes were accompanied with the usual superfluity of crackers and other outward forms of "chin-chin."

WE have already stated, the fact that Inspector Lawrence was released on bail in $2,500 to appear to answer two charges of extortion in the Supreme Court on the 18th instant; and added that a number of other charges are pending against that constable. We are now informed that one of the householders who stood security for Mr Lawrence, apprehensive of losing the $500 for which he had signed a bond, has retreated from his position as security, and refused to stand for the above amount. Lawrence, it is said, applied to obtain a substitute for this tremulous security, but has been refused the privilege, and now remains in the safe custody of the Police. The conduct of the authorities in this matter is certainly to be commended, as they appear honestly determined to bring the matter to trial.

IN BANKRUPTCY. The Honorable the Chief Justice sat for a short time this morning in Bankruptcy when Robert Souil and Joseph Burt, bankrupts, appeared to obtain their discharge Mr Gaskell appeared on behalf of both bankrupts. Mr Seuil, having passed his final examination fourteen days since, received his discharge. - Mr Patrick O'Toole appeared to oppose Burt's discharge, and forced his claim for board and lodging The bankrupt stated that he was going to Australia in the Atrevida, in which vessel he was to work his wife and child's passage; and that, so soon as he reached the Colonies, he was to get command of a ship, with a salary of $120 a-month and "found." His Lordship then ordered the bankrupt to pay $20 a-month from the said salary (beginning in August), until a sum was provided sufficient to pay his creditors a dividend of 50 per cent. after which the bankrupt's discharge would be granted.

TO-DAY'S POLICE. (Before Mr Goodlake. )-Six Chinamen from Kowloong were charged by Inspector' Shead with stealing a quantity of Indian corn from gardens on the said peninsula. The Inspector, in reply to the Court, declared upon his oath that the robbery was committed on this side of the English boundary. One of the prisoners was caught near Yau-ma-ti, after a long chase, by two constables, who "doubled on" him, as a dog does in a hare-hunt. To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL,"

Hongkong, 14th May, 1868. DEAR STR. - Permit me, even at this late date, to point out a mistake into which you appear to have fallen in your leading article of the 6th instant.

You complain that His Excellency the Governor at the meeting of the Legislative Council took no notice of the Anti-Gambling license protest of the Chamber of Com-

No copy of the minutes of the meeting, nor any direct intimation of the result of the proceedings, was transmitted to His Excellency, and without such I believe it would have been out of order for him to advert to the action of the Chamber. Your's truly.

This letter reached us just before our Overland issue was sent to press: and after the article referred to had been printed We have no desire to do injustice to His Excellency, and therefore give insertion to this letter. It is a pity that His Excellency was not officially informed of the opinions held by the Chamber; for under present circumstances, representations made b merchants would have had weight which was not awarded to "Missionary" opinion at a former period. - ED. THREATENED INVASION OF CHINA The following paragraph is from the Friend of India, April Ist:-We learn from a correspondent that the relations between Nepal and Great Tibet have been very unsatisfactory since 1864. -Up to that time the Lhasa authorities paid Nepal R. 10,000 annually; but since 1864 on the accession of a new Gyalpo the Lhassa authorities have declined paying anything. In 1866 a Nepalese agent was sent to Pekin across the Himalayas. He suffered great hardships, and his presents were refused and he himself put into prison. By the latest intelligence Maharajah Jung Bahadoor's preparations for the invasion of Great Tibet continue, troops are being quietly massed and stores collected near Khatmandu. Shrewd people in that city yow that the first object of the invasion will be to loot Foglakote, Kirong and Dingri, the Frontier towns of Tibet. If successful at the last place, and if no great opposition is met with, the Nepalese force will advance upon Lhasa, plundering Sakya and Digarcha en route. At Lhassa Jung Bahadoor hopes to seize the Chinese Resident, as a reprisal for the treatment of his own agent. We give the facts as they are reported by our correspondent, but we expect that there is some exaggeration. Maharaja Jung Bahadoor may have reason to be offended by the Lhassa authorities, but he is scarcely likely to risk the dispatch of a large army into

He could "retire to his country residence in Driebergen, and see how it ended with others who forsook the Lord." "Pray and labour" was a maxim of his; but he took the prayer to himself and left "the labour to be done by those who did not know the Lord's Prayer.' He considered "the man who has little, sins if he gives anything to another. Moreover, he adds, "I never give in the streets; that is a principle of mine; for always say when I see such people--perhaps it is their own fault, and I must not encourage them in their wickedness." does not tell us, indeed, that he sent fifty persons to the city prison with hard labour in Amsterdam for begging; but he takes care to inform us that "every Sunday he gives twice-ones for the poor and once for the Church." He gives to the poor at the chapel door, and robs them over-night. Such is the character who is drawn as a contrast to "Havelaar," or, as he is contemptionsly called by the rich broker, "Shawlman," because he wore a shawl to Oratorical thunder and lightning have their uses in frightening adversaries when the man who wields the bolt is, like O'Connell, or like Mr Bright himself, a personage, the representative of a powerful social force. But if you want to convince an adversary who is too big and in too numerous company to be frightened. it is surely the wisest policy to do as Mr Bright did, and lay the thunder and lightuing up in lavender in the oratorical pronerty room. Of course it is very provoking that men do not know what is good for them straightway when it is placed under their eyes, and the world would work much smoother if they had this happy faculty. But as it is, as they have no blessed intuition of this nothing short of a downright duty? An occasional snarl at an exceptionally obtuse person, one whom his own side knew to be obtuse, or an exceptionally broken-down argument which the people who use it half suspect to be broken down, is the limit which the representative of a decided minority should fix for himself in the way of temper. If you like being in a minority and there are people with this queer propensity—then, and then only, is it safe to hit out at the obstinate majority as if it had no friends. Otherwise, let us have as much stright and hard hitting as is possible, but not let us have any hitting below the belt. convince the wavering bystander that you are the stronger man of the two, and it does convince him that you are a savage, whether the rightful champion or not. The strongor the prejudices against which a reformer has to contend, the more irritating they are o'aviously, if he is in earnest; but then the more carefully should be not allow himself to be irritated, or at least not allow his irritation to be seen. Of course this is commouplace, only it is as neglected as most good commouplaces are. The conversion of Mr Bright to this view of policy is too important an event not to remind us of it very strikingly and very agreeably. He showed the other night that it is possible to feel very strongly, to desire something very ardently, and to talk to the people who keep him out of it coolly and considerately; and, what is more, by this process to come much nearer getting it than by railing at them .- Pall Mall Gazette.

Many thousands of persons from all parts of the United States have applied for seats in the gallery of the Senate during President Johnson's trial. Tickets are issued only to members of the House. through whom alone they were obtained. The majority of those in the gallery were ladies. The Western Telegraph Company has stretched several wires to Washington for the accommodation of reporters.

AS REGARDS PATTERNS. They must not be of intrinsic value. This rule excludes all articles of a saleable nature, and indeed, whatever may have a value of its own, apart from its mere use as a pattern; and the quantity of any material sent ostensibly as a pattern must not be so great that it can fairly be considered as having on this ground an intrinsic value. There must be no writing or marks other than the address of the person for whom the packet is intended, a trade mark and numbers, and prices of the articles; otherwise the Packet will be detained or forwarded charged as an unpaid letter. The Patterns must be sent in covers open at the ends, so as to be easy of examination. Samples however, of seeds, drugs, and so forth, which cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in bage of linen or other material, tied at the neck; bags so closed that they cannot readily be opened, even although they be transparent, must not be used for this purpose. Non-compliance with this rule will also subject the packet to be detained, or forwarded as an unpaid letter.

The Packets or the contents thereof must not contain any inclosure, sealed or otherwise closed against inspection. In all other respects the general regulations of the Book Post will apply to the Pattern Post. Under these regulations, in order to prevent any interruption to the regular transmission of letters, a Packet of Patterns may, when it is necessary be kept back for the following Mail by which, in the ordinary course, it would be forwarded. The decision of the Postmaster Genera as to the eligibility of any Packet, pattern, or sample contained therein, to be forwarded under these regulations, will be final and conclusive.

The rule which forbids the transmission through the Post of any article likely to injure the contents of the Mail Bags or Boxes, or the person of any Officer of the Post Office is, of course, applicable to the Pattern Post; and a packet containing anything of the kind will be stopped, and not burgs, Oldenburgs und der Stadte Bremen, as Patterns and have been detained as un- | Bundesflagge zu führen. fit for the Post, viz : Metal boxes, porcemetals, samples of ore, samples in glass schwarz, der mittlere weiss und der untere bottles, pieces of glasz, acids of various roth ist.
